If those who own a well-decayed heap of cattle dressing suitable for such a place can contribute here and there a little, or anyone with commercial fertilizer to sell can let it go at a bargain for "Oliver's Garden," as we have begun to think of it, so great is the interest the friend of our dead takes in this loyal service, why, a penny saved is so much toward the tablet.

WEDDINGS

KYDD-STORK

The residence of Miss Ellen G. I. Miss Stork is the only daughter of Mrs. Charles Augustus Stork of this town. The ceremony was performed by Prof. William H. Ryder in the presence of the immediate relatives. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, W. Butler Stork, was attended by Miss Miriam F. Carpenter.

The best man was Frederick Sydney Phelps of San Francisco, California, and the ushers were Howard Bell of Andover and Harold Price of Providence, R. I.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white crepe de chine, draped with chiffon cloth, and wore a veil. She wore an ornament of sapphires and pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Carpenter wore pink and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at which many friends joined in extending their best wishes to the young couple. They were assisted in receiving by Miss Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kydd, parents of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Kydd will be at home to their friends after December first, at 136 Hamilton street, Providence, R. I. Mr. Kydd is a chemist in the Riverside Mills in that city.

The ceremony took place at six o'clock in the afternoon at the residence of Dr. Smith, an uncle of the bride.

Interest in Ettor Trial

Interest is running high in the Ettor trial now going on at Salem, and each day's court proceedings are witnessed by large numbers of people. During the past week many witnesses for the prosecution have taken the stand and recounted the disturbances and outbreaks which characterized the big strike last January.

On Monday, Walter Eichler, mechanical engineer in the Pacific mills told of the scenes in the mill when the strikers forced the operatives to leave their looms. City Marshal John J. Sullivan, Moulton Batchelder, a corporation detective of Lawrence and Police Inspector Byron also testified on Monday.

Throughout the week's proceedings Ettor has taken an unusually active interest in the examination of the witnesses, making almost continuous suggestions to his counsel. The testimony of the government witnesses continued to be heard through Tuesday.

GOING INTO THE FRAY

Roosevelt Will Soon Be Again in the Political Arena

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Colonel Roosevelt shows so much improvement that Dr. Terrell expressed the opinion that the Progressive presidential candidate would be able to take a leading part in the wind-up of the campaign. He said that all indications pointed to this, if the patient would obey the orders of his physician and thus avoid any setback.

The colonel suffers no pain from his wound. The fretfulness that characterized his stay in the Mercy hospital in Chicago during the week following his being shot by John Schrank has not asserted itself during the confinement at home.

The Progressive leader feels now that patience and absolute rest and quiet are what he needs, and he has reconciled himself to the doctor's orders in this regard.

ATTEMPTED EXTORTION

New York Police Lieutenant Bounced by the Commissioner

New York, Oct. 21.—Police Lieutenant John F. Stanton was dismissed from the department by Commissioner Waldo on a charge of attempted extortion.

The South Lawrence team was outclassed and failed to score.

REVOLT AT VERA CRUZ IS ENDED

Felix Diaz and Whole of His Staff Are Captured

ALL THE REBELS DISARMED

Government Forces Occupy City With Little Opposition, the Casualties
Being Insignificant—Boats in Harbor Have on Board More Than Five Thousand Foreign Refugees

Vera Cruz, Mex., Oct. 24.—Felix Diaz, with the whole of his staff, was captured here, and all the rebels disarmed. The casualties were insignificant.

Fighting was begun by the federal forces when General Beltran led his troops in the advance on the city. The rebel defenders were very nearly equal in numbers to their opponents, and the struggle, it appeared, was likely to lead to bloodshed.

The government forces occupied the city with little opposition. General Valdez and Colonel Castro, with their respective columns of federal troops, were the first to enter the place. They met with only slight resistance.

Colonel Ordaz of the Twenty-first infantry, who joined Diaz with his troops when he first proclaimed the revolution, has not yet been captured.
He is a cousin of Felix Diaz.

The federal forces began their advance on Vera Cruz at noon Tuesday.
The rebels under General Diaz, who occupied the city, calmly awaited their approach. General Beltran had previously informed the city council that the battle was about to begin.
He declined to allow more time for the removal of non-combatants to the neutral zone.

The boats in the harbor have on board more than 5000 foreign refugees and 10,000 Mexicans. The United States cruiser Des Moines is lying about 500 yards from the American consulate. The space between is neutral and many of the refugee craft have taken up positions there.

Only thirty-two Americans remain within the town. The foreign consuls have gone aboard the boats. The American consul, William W. Canada, has assumed the leadership of the situation.

Promiscuous firing seemed to indicate that the battle had started. It was a false alarm, however, as Beltran sent an emissary offering a truce until daylight. The troops under General Diaz were sent back to barracks and conditions became quiet until the federal forces entered the city yesterday.

MUST PAY DEATH PENALTY

Diaz, His Officers, and Every Tenth Soldier to Be Executed

Mexico City, Oct. 24.—General Diaz, Colonel Ordaz and all the officers of the rebellious troops and marines who surrendered at Vera Cruz will be haled immediately before a court-martial and will doubtless suffer the death penalty.

General Diaz, although not now a member of the army, is amenable in such court under the law which provides for such trial of any civilian under like circumstances.

The soldiers of the rebellious troops will be decimated—one in ten being executed. They will be chosen by lot to pay the penalty for all.

This information was imparted officially last night.

FIVE TOWNS WIPED OUT

Thousands Persons Killed by Typhoon
in the Philippines

Manila, Oct. 22.—The typhoon which swept over several of the Philippine Islands resulted in the death of more than a thousand persons.
Four unidentified Americans, three men and a little girl, were among those killed.

The coasting steamer Tayabas foundered off Escalante. The bodies of fifteen Filipinos and Spaniards came ashore. The typhoon practically destroyed the towns of Bogo, Danao Toledo, Maasin and Escalante.

SOLDIERS ARE FREED

Shot and Killed Three Citizens During the Atlanta Car Strike

Atlanta, Oct. 23.—Findings of the general court martial acquitting Captains Jewett and Henderson and five enlisted men of the state national guard of charges growing out of the killing of three citizens during the Augusta street car strike, have been approved by Governor Brown.

The men were killed when they refused to obey the soldiers' orders to halt at a newly established "dead line."

Strikers Must Give Up Arms Owensville, Ky., Oct. 23.—In an effort to put a stop to the rioting and fighting at the Rose Run mines in Bath county, Circuit Judge Young issued an order requiring that the strikers come into court and surrender their arms and that the sheriff disarm the guards at the mines.

MURDER OF ROSE BUNNIS

May Have Some Connection With Chicago Vice Crusade

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 24.—After a day of investigation, the police are unable to fix definitely the motive for which Rose Bunnis of Bridgeport, lately of Chicago, was shot to death by Joe Bunano, after she had been taken near to Putney cemetery in an automobile, in which were four other men.

Bunano has confessed to killing the woman, who was his common-law wife, but the police say the only reason he gives in his alleged confession is that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing.

Meanwhile, the police still cling to the theory that the woman was killed because she had revealed the inner workings of the white slave traffic in Chicago.

Bunano, together with Joseph Mattio and Frank Pizzichenni, are being held without bonds pending a hearing. The two men in the party who disappeared after the tragedy have not been captured.

VACATION IS ENDED

President Will Be Back in the White House Next Monday

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 23.—President Taft left this morning on a motor trip to Poland Springs, Me. He will return to Beverly for a few minutes on Friday afternoon. Then he will leave for Cambridge Springs, Pa. After attending the dedication ceremonies at the Polish National Home, he will go to Washington, ready to go back to his desk Monday morning.

The president arrived in Beverly on Aug. 27 and returns to Washington in splendid condition. He has kept in fine trim by his golf at Myopia and has not missed a week day morning, rain or shine, when he has been at Parramatta to make the run over to Hamilton for a round of the 18-hole course.

LEASES OPERATE IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE

Canadian Investigators Find
United Shoe a Combine

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The board of investigation constituted under the combines investigation act, in its report to the government, finds the United Shoe Machinery company of Canada, the parent company of which has headquarters in Boston, is a combine and the clauses of its leases restricting the use of the leased machinery operate in restraint of trade.

The board, however, in view of all the circumstances, recommends that the fine provided in such cases of $1000 a day shall not come into effect for six months instead of at the end of ten days after the publication of the judgment.

W. J. White, the company's nominee on the board, presented a minority and dissenting report.

SLAYER OF MOTHER

Boston Man Who Is Under Arrest Admits Crime to Police

Boston, Oct. 24.—Refusal to permit her son to withdraw savings from a bank in order to purchase liquor caused a quarrel that resulted in the death of Mrs. Ellen Donahue in a tenement in the basement of the rear of 1293 Washington street.

Cornelius Donahue, the son, who is 30 years old, is under arrest on a charge of murder and admitted to the police and others that he choked his mother. Mrs. Donahue was 60 years old and a cripple.

Other inmates of the house declare the son, who is a laborer, has been drinking heavily for several days.
They also said Mrs. Donahue's husband is away from home.

TAFT DEFENDS HIS POLICIES

His Trust Attitude Firm, Consistent and Effective.

OPPOSES POLITICAL NOSTRUMS

Recall of Judges a Menace to Independence of Judiciary—Declares That Attacks on the Integrity of His Nomination Are Baseless and Vicious.

President Taft discusses the issues of the present campaign in the Saturday Evening Post. He takes his stand squarely on the issue that with him rests the responsibility of maintaining the high standard set up in the records of his party and of carrying out those policies of his predecessors which he declares have made good government and Republicanism synonymous.

The greater part of his argument, which is the first of three to be written by the chief candidates for the presidency, is devoted to a review of tariff legislation during his administration and to the reasons for opposing the bills set before him for a reduction of schedules before they had been investigated by the tariff board.

He says he signed the Payne tariff bill because, above all, it provided the machinery by which alone, in his opinion, a just and intelligent revision of the tariff could be effected; because it gave the executive power through maximum and minimum rates to get proper treatment for American products from foreign nations; because it imposed a tax on corporations and paved the way for government insight into their operations; because it provided a means of collecting revenue quickly in case of emergency; because it granted a larger measure of justice to the Filipinos and finally because it did provide for a material reduction in tariff rates, not so much of a reduction as he would have liked to get, but as much as he believed it was possible to obtain without the machinery of the tariff board which the law created. He disapproved of the tariff bills since passed because he saw in them a menace to the American workman.

Coming to those measures of his administration which have been passed in the interests of social justice, the president sets down first the railway rate bill, which he describes as the logical development of the policy embodied in the Hepburn act. It gave authority to the interstate commerce commission in many details that had been lacking and added powers of supervision over express companies, telegraph, telephone and cable lines. It authorized the institution of investigations of rates before formal complaint had been made, the protection of water lines from unfair competition and enacted a long and short haul clause that has proved valuable to many communities.

President Taft asserts that his trust policy has been firm, consistent and effective in spite of the enmity of those business interests which he knew it would arouse. He points out that forty-four cases against trusts were instituted during the seven and one-half years that Mr. Roosevelt was president, while during the less than four years of his own administration twenty-two civil suits and forty-five criminal indictments have been brought.

To what he styles the nostrums of the recall of judges and of judicial opinions the president is firmly opposed, holding them a menace to the independence of the judiciary.

"As we listen to the demagogic or fatuous reformers," he says, "let us not forget that votes are not bread, constitutional amendments are not work, referendums do not pay rent or furnish homes, recalls do not provide clothing, initiatives do not supply employment or relieve inequality of condition or opportunity. For any definite plans from those who advocate innovations which will promote equality of opportunity and ameliorate hardships we listen in vain."

As to the Chicago convention, the president declares that no consideration of party zeal or personal ambition would tempt him to stand as a presidential candidate did he not know that the attacks upon the integrity of his nomination are as baseless as they are vicious.

Extract from statement of Mr. Roosevelt dated Nov. 8, 1904:

"On the 4th day of March next I shall have served three and one-half years, and this three and one-half years constitutes my first term. The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form. Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

"What Washington would not take and Grant could not get no man shall have."

THE TOWNSMAN'S SILVER WEDDING

Twenty-five years ago a weak and struggling infant in the shape of a five-column, eight-page newspaper was born in the little brick building in the rear of what was then Draper's Building on Main street. Labeled the "Andover Townsman," and thus suggesting in its very name, a closer communion among the citizens of Andover, it began a struggle to serve the best interests of Andover along lines which seemed to give it a right to exist, and which have since been demonstrated as ample reason to justify the publication of a local newspaper in Andover.

In the past twenty-five years the Townsman has seen many changes, many improvements, and constant growth in a community whose New England ideals have never been lost, but which have been made to serve in building a constantly better town. The Townsman may take some pride in the part it has played in this development. In its columns there has been promoted every improvement that has come to the town from the beginning of the water system through all the stages of waterworks, sewer system, concrete walks, macadamized roads, gas and electric light extension, and countless other improvements which have made so large a part of this better physical Andover.

Many mistakes have been made in this twenty-five years of publishing; many failures have been recorded; many things have been done unwisely; but underneath the whole of it, it has been the sole aim and purpose of the publishers of the Townsman to make it of service to the entire community.

The present management has been in control during the entire quarter of a century. For part of the earlier years the wise counsel and help of Rev. C. C. Carpenter as editor had much to do with its success, but for practically all of the time, the present editor has directed this particular column.

The pen has sometimes undoubtedly been dipped so deep in the well as to touch some of the bitterness that rested at the bottom of the fountain, but if this has been true in this column as well as in other parts of the paper, the desire has ever been to keep high standards of public service, of civic growth, of best life in the community.

The close of a quarter of a century doesn't mark, after all, very much of a finished work except as it carries promise for the future. In its splendid new building built five years ago, the Townsman is now an established institution in Andover. It aims to serve the public as a public servant. Vigorous life will always make vigorous friendships and vigorous enemies, but the heart which has inspired all of the past quarter of a century, is still beating true to the same desires, the same ambitions, and the same hopes which led to the initial adoption of those words of Phillips Brooks for which Andover always stood, and to vitalize which the Townsman was established.

ANDOVER EVERYWHERE AND ALWAYS, FIRST, LAST—THE MANLY, STRAIGHTFORWARD, SOBER, PATRIOTIC NEW ENGLAND TOWN.

Welcome to the Abbot Principal

The inauguration of Miss Bailey as principal of Abbot Academy marks a notable step in the progress of that institution. Officials of the school, alumnae and undergraduates, townspeople, and personal friends all united to make the affair itself an event long to be remembered. Everybody received a welcome of special warmth and cordiality and the 500 or more people seemed like one big family party in the enjoyment of the various features and in their interest in the school.

Miss Bailey comes to Andover with a long record of fine service, in her work as an educator and a leader in young women's school life. She is bound to add much to that record in her service at Abbot Academy. She has the inherited New England sense, a well trained and well educated mind, and a personality to make of her the ideal person to add still further prestige to Abbot Academy. Not alone those who were present and welcomed her to her work at Abbot, but the entire town, rejoicing in the success which comes year by year to the big educational institutions, will welcome with a great deal of satisfaction, the new service which Miss Bailey is sure to give to an institution whose long history has made of it one of the nation's important contributing forces to educational life.

The State Contest

The political problem in Massachusetts does not grow any less complex as the days go by. It is absolutely impossible for any man to foretell how the vote is to be cast, and who the probable winners are to be, either in Massachusetts or in the nation at large. The size of the Progressive vote is the much discussed question not only for the head of the ticket, but all down the line. There would appear to be very little reason to believe that the vote for the Bull Moose candidates below the head of the ticket will be large. Ex-President Roosevelt will undoubtedly secure a large vote in Massachusetts, and the smaller the aggregate vote is, the larger will be his percentage of it. Most people agree to this.

The total vote in 1908 was divided among the parties as follows:

Taft, Republican	265,066
Bryan, Democrat	155,543
Hisgen, Independent	10,237
Debs, Socialist	10,799
Chapin, Prohibition	4,374
Gelhaus, Socialist Labor	1,011
All others	9

Judging by the rallies and the interest of the people at large in political questions, there is not much encouragement that the vote will be materially increased this year, and there are many people who believe it will be less. If it is true that the Progressives have an endorsement from over forty thousand voters who agree to stick to their entire ticket, there isn't the least question about the success to come to the Democrats. Few people believe that this is so, even though there may be on file certain cards that apparently pledge their subscribers to such a position.

The Republican party is undoubtedly getting itself back into shape. Voters who have been doubting whether they should continue to stand by Republican principles are coming back to realize that great achievement is behind, and greater promise is ahead of the Republican party than ever before. If Governor Wilson wins, it will undoubtedly be due to the malcontents and discontents who have left the Republican party without appreciating why, and have devoted themselves to a cause not well founded, and to leadership not wisely directed. Whatever the result, there seems to be little doubt that the candidate on the state ticket who can secure 200,000 votes is pretty sure to win his election this year.

A Republican Congressman

Almost everything is politics even though there isn't very much interest in it at the present time. While there has been very little excitement yet associated with the Congressional campaign, the coming to town during the past week of the Democratic candidate calls attention to that contest.

The Republican candidate is probably one of the cleanest young men who has made his entrance into public life during recent years. His membership in one of the old families of Lowell would count for mighty little if he hadn't proven his own worth in other ways, but he has done that with a vengeance. He has already made his mark as a student in Harvard, and a leader in the best thought and life of that institution. He has made his mark as a young lawyer, practicing for the last four years in Lowell. He has shown his interest in public affairs, after a strenuous campaign and the securing of a large vote, as a successful Republican candidate for the Lowell School Board. He is in many of the good works of that city, and of himself and by himself he has proven to be the right kind of man to be entrusted with political honors in these strenuous times.

Mr. Rogers deserves to be elected. Without any question of the character of his opponent, without any suggestion of the lines that are being used in some other quarters as to fitness or unfitness for the office, the cause of good government will be best served by the choice of Mr. Rogers at this time. It is particularly unfortunate that in this district where the issue is so plain and the character of the Republican candidate is so high, there should come in a third candidacy based on such false premises as that behind the candidacy of the Progressive candidate. Andover should give Mr. Rogers a rousing vote, because he is worthy of it, as proven by every test that can be made, and because her industries need the aid of Republican principles for which he stands.

Worthy of Endorsement

There are two candidacies which are of particular interest to the writer in the present political contest in Massachusetts, and which, because of their peculiar interest to him, seem to very naturally call for comment. Among two of the most striking and efficient public servants that have been effective in the public life of Massachusetts for the last ten years are Senators Blanchard of Somerville and Schoonmaker of Ware.

Senator Blanchard is a candidate for re-election in the Somerville district. Were it not for the independent candidacy of a Progressive, there would be little question about a very large majority coming to him on election day. As in many other districts, the Progressive candidacy makes a problem, and while there is every reason to believe that the voters of Somerville will continue to honor Mr. Blanchard, his friends can ill afford to let anything stand in the way of promoting his candidacy.

Few men have made so strong an impression upon the laws of Massachusetts during the last ten years as has Mr. Blanchard. As Representative, and Senator, he has attained a remarkable influence, not through public speaking, but through efficient, intelligent action, and his grasp upon public affairs and the relation of the Legislature to the best welfare of the Commonwealth, is such as to make him one of the ablest men in public life at the present time. He has served on all of the important committees, and has always held a close relationship to the presiding officers of the different branches. Somerville owes not a little of its commanding position in the affairs of the Commonwealth to the rare personal charm and the exceedingly able equipment possessed by Senator Blanchard, and not only the city, but the state, owes it to itself to do everything possible to continue him in public life.

Senator Schoonmaker retires from the State Senate, and is this year a candidate for District Attorney of the North Worcester District. The writer well remembers his first acquaintance with Senator Schoonmaker, then a member of the House. A gifted man in speech, and ability to grasp public questions, he has grown into his commanding position at the present time in the affairs of his own locality, and in the active labors of the Massachusetts Senate through the constant use of his best gifts. As clean as a whistle, clear-cut in his thinking and his actions, high-minded to the very highest degree, the North Worcester District will be fortunate in these times when it is so easy for District Attorneys to be swayed by political ambition and political gain, if it shall place in that office a man of such parts as Senator Schoonmaker possesses. We wish we could be in the district to help elevate him to the place which he so richly deserves, through his equipment, his training, and his ideals.

Republican Rally, November 2

The Republicans will hold their principal rally in the town hall on Saturday evening, November 2, with Hon. James M. Swift, Attorney-General; Congressional Candidate Rogers of Lowell, Representative Harry M. Eames, and Citizen John N. Cole as the speakers.

The rally will begin at 7:45 sharp in order that Mr. Rogers may keep another appointment in Lowell made for the same evening. Mr. Rogers will be the first speaker, and it is hoped that the audience will arrive promptly, for it will be the first opportunity to meet Mr. Rogers on an Andover platform.

Mr. Swift is one of the brightest men in Massachusetts and also has many friends in Andover who will welcome him as a speaker.

Representative Eames will take up some of the charges that have been made against him, and will state his position in no uncertain terms on some of the public questions referred to.

Citizen Cole, as the only one on the list who doesn't want an office, will talk about the "town and the tariff."

The Andover Brass Band will furnish music, and ladies will be welcomed to any part of the hall.

$100 Damage at Fire

Shortly after six o'clock on Monday afternoon the fire department was called to the plant of the Smith & Dove Company, where a fire was in progress in the dust house. A few moments of active work brought the trouble under control, so that the damage did not exceed $100.

It is thought that the fire was of incendiary origin, and the company and the authorities are making every effort to locate the person or persons responsible for it. This is the second time within a short period that fire has broken out in the mill property under unexplainable circumstances.

SMALL DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Rather Light Attendance at Rally in Interest of Democratic Candidates

A Democratic O'Sullivan rally was held in the town hall on Monday evening, the speakers being Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the new fifth district; John B. Casey, ex-mayor of Lowell; and Daniel Donahue, Esq., a Lowell attorney.

The rally was attended by about seventy-five men and a few women, and Timothy J. Mahoney, chairman of the Democratic town committee, presided. The speakers were met by the rally committee and the Ballardvale drum corps and escorted to the hall, where, after waiting a few minutes for the arrival of Mr. O'Sullivan, the speeches began. Mr. O'Sullivan's remarks came first and were very brief, owing to the necessity of getting away to keep another engagement in Lowell. He simply stated the reasons why he is seeking, and showed what his line of action will be if elected.

Mr. Casey was the next speaker, and for half an hour the high cost of living and Mr. O'Sullivan's candidacy were set forth. Mr. Donovan's remarks were in the same vein, being an endorsement of the nominee of his party.

Senator Halley of Lawrence was present but did not speak.

In an interval between the addresses, Chairman Mahoney announced that the town committee would observe "Wilson Day," October 31, with a rally in A. O. U. W. Hall. It was later decided, however, to hold the rally on Saturday evening, November 2, instead.

Andover Defeats Cushing

Cushing Academy was defeated by Andover 24 to 0 on Wednesday afternoon. The local school easily outclassed their opponents and during the last half of the game used practically a substitute team.

MR. VAN DER PYL EXPLAINS

The following correspondence is self explanatory. The Townsman has no desire to injure Mr. Van der Pyl, but is not yet quite clear how the Boston Herald could have, without authority, placed in quotation marks a statement credited to one who has been so long a regular contributor as Mr. Van der Pyl has been.

Mr. Van der Pyl's First Letter

Editor Andover Townsman,
Dear Sir:

My attention has been called to an editorial in your paper concerning a purported remark of mine before the Boston Ministers' meeting. The words quoted were not in my address. I purposely avoided all reference to the Editor, and merely incidentally alluded to Editor.

The words you quote were in part a reply to a question from Rev. Dr. Stockdale as to what the red flag stood for. My reply was, "that while theoretically it was the emblem of the red blood that flows in the veins of all men, it has come to be the symbol of anarchy, anti-patriotism and revolution."

Your insinuation about the articles "in a certain Boston newspaper" was not fair. There have been many of them since August 1, but scarcely any of them had to do with Lawrence. They have been ironic in temper, and have sought to be fair to all sides. I should be glad if you would quote the titles or anything else from them, if not wrenched from the setting.

The newspaper for which they are written is one of the most reputable and conservative of Boston papers, and would not print anything that would suggest what your editorial insinuates.

In justice to myself and for the information of many friends in Andover, I should be grateful if you would publish this note in your next edition.

Truly yours,
N. VAN DER PYL

Oct. 9, 1912.

The Editor's Reply

Rev. Nicholas Van der Pyl,
Haverhill, Mass.

My dear Mr. Van der Pyl:

I have your letter of October 9th, and shall be glad to give it most careful attention. I have grave doubts, however, about making the correction you suggest without considerable investigation, because I have a deal of information that leads me to believe that the statement published in the Boston paper was furnished by yourself as copy for your address, and inasmuch as it was published in your own official Boston organ, I think I would like to do some investigating before I credit you fully with the retraction you desire to make.

in order to set yourself right with some people in Andover, who have had their confidence in you seriously shaken.

I have noticed, that in order to attract attention, the modern minister thinks HE MUST MAKE JUST SUCH STATEMENTS AS YOU HAVE BEEN MAKING, and the minute the newspaper quotes him in such a way that he begins to get into trouble because of his statements, the charge is made that the newspaper has mis-quoted him.

Publicity is a mighty good thing, but for the last three years it has been used by a lot of fake reformers to twist the American public mind in a very serious way. Unless my observations are entirely wrong the time is pretty near at hand when it may disturb a great many of those who have been using it, in showing up how difficult it is for them to square themselves with the misled public.

After I have investigated your statement I shall be glad to give it further consideration.

Cordially yours,
JOHN N. COLE

October 10, 1912.

An investigation of the item quoted by the Townsman shows that the Herald believed that it was quoting Mr. Van der Pyl correctly, and certainly the use of it by the Townsman was abundantly justified upon such authority. A second letter was sent to Mr. Van der Pyl on October 18, as follows:

Rev. Nicholas Van der Pyl,
Haverhill, Mass.

My dear Mr. Van der Pyl:

I should like to know before I publish your letter, if there is anything further you desire in connection with it. Will you kindly see that I am advised on this score before Wednesday of next week.

Cordially yours,
JOHN N. COLE

October 18, 1912.

No reply has been received to this letter. Whether or not the Townsman was justified in its associating the I. W. W. and the Progressives together, through the peculiar workings of Mr. Van der Pyl's mind in his recent efforts to aid both of these peculiar causes, the Townsman is perfectly satisfied to leave for the future to determine. The writer has no use for either of these movements; there is much evidence that Mr. Van der Pyl is a prominent endorser of both.

The "Lawrence strike" is not shaping up very well for many people who jumped so hastily to the side of the rabble when it first began.

Visitors' Night at Grange

About 200 Grangers gathered in the cosy Grange hall in West Andover on Tuesday evening, the occasion being "Visitors' Night." Patrons were present from Haverhill, North Reading, Methuen, North Andover, West Boxford, and Wilmington.

The entertainment of the evening was furnished by Haverhill and No. Andover granges. Rev. Mr. Powers from the former giving a very interesting talk, and the latter contributing a program of vocal music, readings, and a farce entitled, "Scenes in a Sanctum."

Following the entertainment, an excellent supper was served by Andover grange, and the general opinion of all present was that the evening had been most enjoyable.

Outdoor Rally Held

An outdoor rally in the interest of the Democratic party was held in the square on Wednesday afternoon, with Representative William Newton of Boston, J. S. Corliss, president of the Wilson Club of Boston University, and David I. Walsh, nominee for lieutenant-governor, as the speakers.

Governor Foss was expected to speak but did not arrive as scheduled, and shortly after five o'clock the rally was broken up by the heavy shower which came on. A good sized crowd of townspeople were present with a liberal sprinkling of Academy boys, several of the latter attempting to enliven the occasion, rather to the discomfort of the speakers, by considerable ill-timed cheering.

All three speakers touched upon the problem of the cost of living and the various other chief issues of the campaign, urging especially the support of the party in local contests.

Reception to Guild Superintendent

Interest, enthusiasm, and loyalty to the Guild work, marked the meeting of the Woman's auxiliary on Friday last.

After the transaction of several items of business the President introduced Mrs. Tower, the new superintendent of the Guild, who spoke of her plans and hopes for the one hundred and twenty girls and boys already registered for the winter work. Greater liberty, and a more homelike atmosphere she would suggest as helps for better work.

Mrs. Tower may rely on the hearty co-operation of the auxiliary in all her efforts for Guild betterment.

Tea was then served and the social hour was enjoyed by all.

NOTABLE EVENT AT ABBOT ACADEMY

Inauguration of Miss Bertha Bailey as Principal—Large Gathering of Citizens and Friends of the School.

Eighty-three years ago the first principal of Abbot Academy took his place without attending ceremonies. Last week, on Saturday, October 19, occurred the inauguration of Miss Bertha Bailey to the now more honorable and more arduous position.

The occasion was especially designed as an "old home" day for the alumnae, and invitations were sent out to all whose addresses are known. Of these there are nearly 2200, including a goodly number in foreign lands. This special invitation brought a larger number than have returned for many years, among them not a few whose coming meant an unusual effort. It was good to see the renewal of friendships, and to feel the dominant spirit of enthusiastic loyalty.

The occasion was a pleasant one also for the many Andover friends whose constant interest helps to make the Academy what it is. Parents of the present students, former teachers and trustees made up the assembly who were doing honor to the school and its new head.

The formal exercises took place at twelve o'clock in Davis Hall. The program follows:

The School Song

(Tune: The Russian Hymn)

Benediction

The Reverend Professor John Phelps Taylor

Their entrance just before the beginning of the exercises was an impressive sight, embodying as they did the long line of years in the history of the school. Andover held an honorable place in the line, as may be seen from the list in the Townsman of last week. Mrs. W. S. Jenkins, who entered the school in 1843, was at the head, and was followed by Mrs. Marcella Brown Kelly, who entered in 1844, and who, though now of Auburndale, was a former Andover girl, and an early teacher in the Andover schools. Mrs. Draper, who was watching proceedings from her window across the street, should really be included. She entered in 1840. It was a great satisfaction that so many of these representatives could be present. There were several delegates from the New York Abbot Club and a large number of members of the Boston Club.

A yellow rosette marked each present student who has had relatives in the school before her. There were about twenty of these, including eight daughters and eight grand daughters. So many of the girls were from Andover that the whole list is given below.

At the close of the exercises the guests were served to luncheon. The number was so large—nearly five hundred, besides the present school—that part, including the alumnae before 1890, were directed to Draper Hall dining room, and the rest to the second floor of the McKean Building.

Following the luncheon came the reception by the Trustees to Miss Bailey in the McKean parlors and the drawing room of Draper Hall. Judge and Mrs. Morton, Miss Bailey, Miss Kelsey, and Mrs. Churchill received. Even with the large number of guests, Miss Bailey's cordial manner and her memory for names and faces made her greetings seem personal.

Among the many former teachers present was Prof. Henri Morand, for twenty-five years in the French department, who greeted his old pupils

Judge Morton expressed in a few words the loss felt by the Trustees in the recent death of Dr. Daniel Merriman, President of the Board, who has so long been a valued and influential leader in their councils.

The absence of Miss Means was mentioned with deep regret, and throughout the exercises frequent honor was paid to her service for the school.

In the absence of Mr. Stearns, Prof. Forbes gave greetings from Phillips Academy. He spoke of the unity of all education in its purpose to enable one to live intelligently among his fellows.

Miss Knott said that Bradford and Abbot, if rivals, were such only in the most friendly sense. Whatever is for the upbuilding of one is for the upbuilding of the other. They will endure, for nothing seems to take the place of the good, old-fashioned New England academy.

President Pendleton, knowing Miss Bailey as Wellesley graduate, efficient worker in alumnae circles, and personal friend, warmly congratulated the Trustees on the admirable qualities which so well fit her for the position. She made a plea for greater thoroughness in all schools, and for making learning in itself attractive to students. The aim of education is to take one up on the heights, from which a larger view, and a more just perspective can be gained.

Miss Dawes spoke in her usual racy style, bringing to Miss Bailey the loyal devotion of the whole body of alumnae. She warned them that changes were sure to come, that often they might feel like hanging their harps on the educational willows, but they must instead take them up and twang them valiantly in accord with the new chorus. She gave feeling tributes to the succession of principals whom she had known and ended with an earnest charge to Miss Bailey.

In opening her address, Miss Bailey said that from the first she had been much impressed by the broad outlook of the Trustees, and their readiness to seize upon all means that make for progress. She praised the organization of the school, and expressed her great debt to Miss Kelsey for initiating her into all its affairs, and for wise counsel. Her task was made much easier also by the fact that the students had met her half way in everything she had asked them to do. She characterized the alumnae as the fruition of the years. To them belongs the pleasant task of bringing to Abbot the girls who need it, and whom Abbot needs.

Miss Bailey has a fine presence, and, speaking without apparent effort and in a clear voice, gives an impression of reserve power and wins confidence.

The musical part of the program was under the competent direction of Prof. Joseph N. Ashton, and the first chorus was a composition of his own. The audience joined the school in singing the school hymn, which was printed on the centre seats were reserved in the centre of the hall for the class representamost cordially and was full of reminiscences. He first came to Abbot at the close of the Franco-Prussian war, when Germany was in the ascendancy, and very few pupils were taking French. It was a matter of pride with him to change this, so he arranged for frequent French comedies and soirees until the proportion of students was more in his favor.

The threatening clouds doubtless kept some from attending the exercises, and before the reception was over, the rain began to fall. This was a great disappointment to the girls, as there was to have been a hockey game between the Seniors and Senior Middlers and the finals for the tennis championship were to have been played off. Though this excitement would have been pleasant to share, all felt that the day was quite complete and went away assured that the school was beginning another era of prosperity and usefulness.

Plans for Missionary Conference

On November 12, 13, and 14 will be held in Andover the annual meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions. About 270 delegates are expected from all over New England, the Middle and Southern states; these are to be entertained in the hospitable homes of the town.

The women of Andover are fulfilling the scriptural injunction to give hospitality without grudging. Not only are the members of the Congregational churches, which are closely allied with this work, promising to entertain delegates, but the Episcopalians, Baptists and others are all sending in their names to Mrs. John V. Holt, Elm street, who is chairman of the hospitality committee. Some are to take two, and others three or four of the visitors and missionaries. As some ladies are not feeling able to provide breakfast and supper for their visitors, arrangements have been made to provide meals for their guests elsewhere. All delegates will have their noon meals at the Free church, whose spacious dining hall will be set with many tables and served by a caterer.

This is the first time that the Board has asked one of the smaller churches to be its hostess, as the meetings are usually held in large cities, so the ladies feel a certain pride in being thought worthy of such an honor and they greatly desire that all arrangements may be as perfectly carried out as possible. If owners of carriages and automobiles would be willing to transport guests at five o'clock on Tuesday from the South church to distant homes, it would help the committee and relieve the guests of uncertainty in finding their places of entertainment.

The Episcopal church parlors are to be open at noon to give a chance for people to rest quietly between meetings. Here also, visitors who come for the day only may eat their box lunches and be served with hot tea and coffee on Wednesday and Thursday.

The committees are as follows:

Mr. Bryan's Book

An unusually interesting book entitled "The Garden of Luzon," written by Julian S. Bryan, English instructor at Phillips Academy, has just come from the publisher and is now on sale.

The book is in marked contrast to the great majority of modern stories in that it takes the reader into a field seldom found in fiction. The scene is laid in the Philippines, at Manila, just before the time of American intervention, when the country and the natives were seething with revolt and unrest, and when the cruelty and oppression of the Spanish government and the church were most flagrant.

The life and characteristics of the natives, and the country as well, are depicted in an intensely interesting manner; under Mr. Bryan's pen the characters in the book become alive and the reader shares in all their longings, ambition and despair, and follows them through their terrible adventures with almost painful intensity.

While the book is chiefly notable for the insight it gives into the conditions which existed under Spanish rule, still it has that great requisite of the modern tale, a love story and a very pretty one at that. And in the end, in their Garden of Luzon, the reader leaves Victorio and Teresa happy at last.

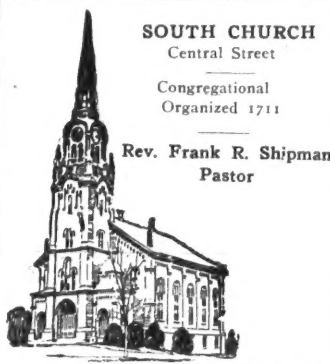

Phillips Academy Notes

Douglas G. Crawford spoke before the Society of Inquiry on Sunday evening on the subject, "A Boy's Doubts."

At a special meeting held last Sunday morning after service, articles of membership and rules for an Academy church were adopted. The new organization will be called "the Church of Christ in Phillips Academy."

NO EXCUSE THIS TIME.

The Past Shows That Democratic Success and National Disaster Are Inseparable.

For those who voted into power a Democratic low tariff administration twenty years ago there was the excuse that they had no lesson of experience to warn them from their course. More than thirty years had passed since the enactment of a protective tariff. Industries were flourishing, wages rising and the treasury had a considerable surplus. There was a feeling that Cleveland had not been accorded a fair opportunity to prove that "a tariff for revenue only" would benefit the country, and while the issue was still in the balance came a desperate labor struggle, amounting to a local war, to inflame the public mind and evoke a demand for some action on the part of the national government to curb the power of large corporations. The Sherman law, enacted by the Republican congress and signed by President Harrison July 2, 1890, was in force, but its powers had not been invoked, and its scope had not been determined by the highest judicial authority. Mr. Cleveland's supporters argued that radical reduction of the tariff would restrain corporate greed and prove a cure-all for economic evils. Mr. Cleveland himself took substantially this ground in his inaugural address.

The facts of history are that the tariff was reduced to a revenue basis, the Sherman law remained dormant, capital shrank from investment, factories were closed or ran on short time, business languished because very few had money to buy, prices went down for the same reason, the farmer could not sell his produce, and hundreds of thousands of unemployed workers had to live on the savings of former prosperity or, if they had no savings, on charity. A large number of the unemployed formed what was known as "Coxey's army" and marched on Washington to demand relief.

Such were the conditions under the last Democratic administration, and the people waited longingly and repented for that four years to pass. Knowing that modified free trade had proved a failure, the Democrats offered free silver as their next panacea, but the people would have none of it, and when 1896 came Republican rule and Republican policies were voted in with a whoop.

Fifteen years have passed since a protective tariff was restored in 1897. Under President Taft the nation has achieved a height of prosperity far exceeding any in the past. Every legitimate industry is active, wages are higher than ever before, and the savings banks teem with thousands of millions of dollars of the wage earners' money. The Sherman act has been and is being enforced against every violator, and important legislation has been enacted for the greater protection of employees of public service corporations within the jurisdiction of federal authority.

With the lesson of the last Democratic administration before the people a step backward in the same direction would have no sensible excuse. When disaster followed in the wake of Cleveland's second election the plea of ignorance could be offered for the false step that had invited the lean four years of misfortune. A similar plea could not be offered in the future, should a majority decide to make the trial of another Democratic administration. In view of past experience such a change would not be from a certainty to an uncertainty; it would be from a certainty of prosperity, industrial activity and good times generally to a certainty of depression, industrial paralysis, general reaction and privation. "I told you so!" could point with accusing and unerring finger to the costly and painful lesson of 1893-97 whose moral had been set at naught, and those who had brought about the new era of wretchedness could offer no palliation for their folly.

Apply all signs point to a continuance of the present fortunate conditions under the guidance of President Taft, whose sound, sane and impartial administration of affairs has made these conditions possible. The American people are not going to make a change simply for the sake of change. From every part of the country comes assurance that the Republican party is gaining in renewed strength every day and will go to the polls in November to roll up a substantial majority for Taft, prosperity and progress.

THE HIBERNIAN BALL

Large Attendance at First Public Event Conducted by Ladies Auxiliary to the Hibernians in Town Hall Friday Night

The grand concert and ball of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Hibernians, Division 6, took place last Friday evening in the Town Hall, and proved to be the complete success that was anticipated. The attendance was unusually large, about 500 persons being present.

The hall was the first public event under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, which has been in existence but a comparatively short time, and if its success is to be taken as an omen, then prospects for a prosperous future are bright. The main object of the affair was to aid the benefit fund for sick members of the organization, and it is needless to say that a goodly sum for such work was realized.

Among those present were several honored guests. Attorney Patrick C. Cannon of Clinton, state president of the order, was present and led the grand march with the local president, Miss Katherine Moynihan. Also present were D. J. O'Mahoney, the well-known county president. From eight to nine o'clock the Columbian orchestra rendered the following concert program which was much enjoyed:

March, Emperor Frederic Blou
Overture, Donnybrook White
Intermezzo, Cloverland Wenrich
Selection, Little Miss Fix-It Henneberg
Medley, Haviland's Happy Hiss No. 3 Nalle

The grand march, led by Mr. Cannon and Miss Moynihan, followed by James Kyle and Mrs. Austin Poland, vice-president of the local organization, and Mr. and Mrs. O'Mahoney, and over one hundred couples, then began. Dancing then ensued, continuing until one o'clock.

The decorations, which were in charge of the Reid & Hughes Company of Lawrence, were very attractive. The color scheme was green and white, and the hall was transformed by the many festoons and streamers hung from the chandeliers and the gallery. The feature of the stage where the orchestra played behind a screen of palms, was the combination of the Irish and American emblems.

Great credit is due the committee of arrangements for the highly successful manner in which the ball was carried out. The officials of the evening were as follows: Floor director, Walter Morrissey; assistant floor director, Frank McDonald; reception committee, Mrs. Mary Poland, Mrs. Ellen Driscoll, Katherine Moynihan, Mrs. Lillian McDonald, Mrs. Mary Adams; aids, David S. Burns, Joseph Daley, James Menihane, Annie Donovan, Mary Welch, Catherine O'Dea, Arthur Eastwood, Eleanor Hayes, Mary Kelly, William J. Burns, Frank McDonald, Mary Maroney, Mary Casey, Mary Lynch, Teresa McDonald, Helen Kyle.

Among those present were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. William Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. John Wylie, Misses Louise Daley, Bessie Cheyne, Grace Stevens, Mary Harnedy, Helen Curran, Helen Murphy, Esther Clafin, Margaret Rogers, May Rogers, Marguerite O'Sullivan, Bessie O'Sullivan, Jennie McNally, Mollie Cronin, Viola Fellows, May Collins, Katherine Moynihan, Katie McNally, Mary Maroney, Margaret Lynch, Annie Harnedy, Bertha Hayes, Bertha Hadley, Edith Taylor, Ida Burns, May Burns, Katherine McShane, Annie Platt, Nellie Kyle, Mary McDonald, Marie Daley, Ethel Curran, Sadie Hitchins, Beatrice Poland, Elizabeth Stewart, Blanche Cross, Emma Cashan, Charlotte Cross, Florence Hibbert, Mollie Kemmes, Mary McKenzie, Elizabeth Dick, Pearl Brown, Margaret York, Emma Michelini, Irene Harrigan, Katherine Hannon, Irene Worthing, Annie Ritcher, Sadie Hicks, Mary Driscoll, Mary Barrett, Margaret Barrett, Helen Tracy, Mary Casey, Teresa McDonald, Eleanor Hayes, Helen Kyle.

Andover o, Dartmouth o

In an interesting and well played game on Brothers Field last Saturday, the Andover football team tied the Dartmouth Fresh team to no score. The game took place in a steady drizzle of rain, on a soft and muddy ground, but was nevertheless close and hard fought.

Dartmouth had the stronger offense, especially in their backfield, of which Tyler made several long runs, netting many yards for Dartmouth. The visitors also made several more first downs than Andover, and came very near scoring a touchdown in the fourth quarter, the only thing that prevented being that the right end was offside twice in succession. For Andover, Nielsen and Captain Gault of the backfield were the stars, and Hogg, Baldrige and Sheldon also played well.

Extra Bedding

Here is a good plan being passed around the papers from some housekeeping periodical. It was advice on camp quilts, but will help out in families with many beds to spread in cold weather.

Odd stuff like calico a little faded, or hangings of windows, etc., cut the size of the bed, and double of course, stitching across from side to side, at intervals of eighteen inches. After closing up both ends and one long side, into the bag-like section you can turn new papers, all kinds of padding or wool, bits of clean carpeting or batting in cheesecloth covers. Anyone who has the feeling that old-fashioned quilts should be washed occasionally can see how sanitary conditions are here met, for such an affair is easily cleaned in sections and saves the laundry steaming.

DRUGGISTS

Impressed With New Mode of Treatment and Distinctly Recommend the Use of the English Hemorrhoid Treatment

A leading medical writer says: "It is safe to estimate that seventy-five per cent of the people, male and female, are at some time in their lives troubled, more or less, with Hemorrhoids." The same writer says:
"Medicine alone and unaided will not always cure; intelligence, careful-ness and persistence must be used in the successful administration of any remedy."

The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is sound, logical, high-grade and in accord with above statement.

The Prescriptions are on each box.

You know exactly what you are using.

Very full and explicit directions for use together with diet sheet and "rules for health" accompany each package.
The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" consists of SUP-POSITORIES, OINTMENT and CONSTITUTIONAL TABLETS. The fact that we supply our patients with full and complete instructions, so that they are enabled to use the treatment PROPERLY and SUCCESS-FULLY, constitutes one of our chief claims to DISTINCTION in the treatment of Hemorrhoids.

The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is endorsed and recommended by many good physicians, who are prescribing it in their practice.

The "ENGLISH HEMORRHOID TREATMENT" is fully described in a Booklet, which can be obtained at any of the following Drug Stores.
It is an excellent treatise on the subject and should be read by all who are afflicted.

If you suffer from this distressing malady, it will be greatly to your interest to call on your nearest druggist and get this treatment. It may do you more good than any other remedy you have ever used. The following is a list of Druggists in Andover, North Andover, Lawrence, South Lawrence, Methuen, and Ballardvale who have the "ENGLISH HEMOR-HOID TREATMENT" for sale and who highly recommend same.
